Pencil Paragraphs Caught on the Fly by the Constitution Reporters.
GOKE TO GAINESVILLE.—Mr. W. J. Fletcher has shipped a big lot of family disturbances to Gainesville and went up last evening to arrange his bar.

ADJOURNED.—Judge Van Epps has adjourned the city court for one week, the attorneys having cases in the supreme, superior and DeKalb county court being unable to attend.

BURIED SUNDAY.—Monte Weems, Dr. W. P. Nicholson's driver, who died Saturday night, was buried Sunday afternoon in Westview cemetery. Monroe was a faithful and polite negro.

AN UNUSUAL OCCURRENCE.—Yesterday a turkey on J. R. McCall's place was frightened by a dog and flew off to alight in the top of a tree, where the bird got fastened in the fork and stayed there until one of the boys climbed the tree and brought it down.

THE CRIMINAL DOCKET.—The superior court will take up the criminal docket the first Monday in April. The session will continue about four weeks and the entire docket will be cleared up. The house is full now, but will be clear when court adjourns.

TO MEET TODAY.—At the Woman's house, 147 Marietta street, the ladies of the woman's Christian association will hold a meeting. The ladies have some important work to dispose of, and it is desired that all who have an interest in the work attend. The house is in excellent hands, and much good is being accomplished.

SUIT FOR DAMAGES.—The superior court is engaged hearing the case of A. W. Fickett vs. the city of Atlanta, damages. Mr. Fickett lives at 312 Luckie street, and claims that his lot was damaged to the amount of $1,000 by the street force fixing the street so as to cause his lot to be overflowed with water. The case was not concluded yesterday.

UNITED STATES COURT.—Judge McCoy yesterday had a twist with the moonshiners. N. L. Kelly, Forsyth county, pleaded guilty to receiving sentence suspended. B. W. G. of West county, working one month Campbell county jail; J. J. Reese, distilling and working two months and $100; the bond of W. L. Forch, Murray county, was forfeited.

PLACING BONDS.—Treasurer Hardeman placed a large number of Georgia's new bonds yesterday at the request of R. W. Wolf, the purchaser of the entire issue. John J. G. of Augusta, gets $53,000; W. G. Solomons, of Macon, $15,000; and an Atlanta capitalist takes $40,000. Henry Blum, of Savannah, got $13,100 registered bonds in exchange for the coupon bonds.

TO BE BURIED TODAY.—The remains of Dr. J. J. Caldwell, whose death was noted in yesterday's CONSTITUTION, will be laid to rest in Oakland cemetery this morning at ten o'clock. The physicians of the city will hold a meeting at the Young Men's Library this morning at nine o'clock, and will attend the funeral services in a body. Dr. Caldwell was one of the most learned physicians in the state.

OUT FOR PRACTICE.—Captain Millidge had the Governor's Horse Guard out for practice yesterday afternoon. The company paraded at the corner of the city hall, and then marched through several of the principal streets of the city, attracting much attention. The company is perfecting itself in cavalry drill so as to be able to make a creditable showing at the Chattahoochee centennial.

THE FESTIVAL TONIGHT.—The musical and literary festival this evening at the residence of Mr. M. C. Kiser, on Peachtree street, given under the auspices of the Ladies Benevolent union, of the First Baptist church will be one of the most enjoyable entertainments of the season. Proceeds go to the poor. Mr. Kiser will give a warm and hearty welcome to all. Some of the best musical and literary talent of the city will aid in the programme.

SHE IS STILL HERE.—Mrs. Barton, the wife of the constable, still in Atlanta, and is doing all she can to secure her husband's release. Mrs. Barton was too sick to do anything yesterday except visit to see her husband. Her nervous system has given way entirely, and if something is not done soon to relieve her great anxiety, she will die of a nervous mania or a dead woman. The petition for the pardon of her husband will be started this morning.

THE STATE FAIR.—The state fair sub-committee on location of fair grounds have examined two sites for the grounds, one on the belt railroad and one on the Air Line, near Ponce de Leon. Three other places are to be inspected. One is three miles out on the Georgia railroad, one is on the East Tennessee, near Cole's nursery, and one is near East Point. On next Monday the executive committee of the Georgia agricultural society will meet, and the fair committee at 3 o'clock in the chamber of commerce.

A TEXT CASE.—R. C. Jolke, E. D. McDonald, James Osler, J. M. Miller, Mark Johnson, Johnson & Thompson, H. V. Barnes, John Neal & Co., W. Bachelor and J. J. Falvey, all well known business men, will appear in police court this morning to answer the charge of obstructing the sidewalks. These gentlemen, every merchant in the city, have been placing articles of various kinds on the sidewalks in front of their places as an exhibit. There is an ordinance prohibiting the obstruction of sidewalks, and these cases were yesterday made to test the law.

THEY DON'T WANT IT.—Several weeks ago a number of the better class of colored people of this city bought a tract of land a few miles from the city on the McDonough road to be used as a cemetery for the colored people. The land was surveyed, and everything put in shape for work to begin on the cemetery. The site is a beautiful one, and the colored people felt that they would in a few years have the prettiest cemetery of any city in the south for their dead. The property owners adjacent to the ground have filed a suit in the clerk's office of the superior court, praying that the colored people be enjoined from burying their dead on said grounds. They believe that their property would depreciate in value, and that the health of the community would not be improved.

HE WILL LIVE.—Bad Dunaway, the young man who was struck by the Georgia railroad engine Sunday morning, was much better yesterday, and the physicians at the Ivy street hospital feel confident of an early recovery. Touching the accident, Drs. Westmoreland and Howell said yesterday, in reference to the statement, that the man Dunaway was refused treatment at their office.

HE WAS BROUGHT TO THE OFFICE and was found to be drunk, and was also suffering from the injury received by the Georgia road. The police brought him to our office and wanted to leave him there for treatment. We told him that we could not keep him at the office, but that if he was taken to any hospital we would treat him. We would not treat him, however, as a Georgia road patient, as that road never authorizes medical attention to those who may be hurt by it. We have never turned out a patient because he had no money.

THE COUNCIL.

THE BODY MEETS IN REGULAR SEMI-MONTHLY SESSION.

An Ordinance Prohibiting Candy Stands on the Street Corners Adopted—One of Mr. Collier's bills Ordinance Prohibiting Candy Stands on the Street Corners was presented.

Every member of the general council was present during the session yesterday afternoon, except Messrs. Stockell, Angier and May.

Mr. Stockell was at the baseball game. Mr. Angier was at home sick. Mr. May's absence was unexplained.

Mr. Hutchison, chairman of the police committee, submitted a favorable report upon the petition of Messrs. Black, Johnson and Goldsmith, for the abolition of licenses issued to vendors of candies, nuts, etc., on the street corners.

"I move to amend," said Mr. Mitchell, immediately after the reading of the report, "by adding license issued to vendors of candies, nuts, etc., on the street corners."

"Ob, yes," answered Mr. Mitchell. "These peddlars besides being irresponsible work an inconvenience to the merchants."

"Well, I can't say that I favor the report," said Mr. Middlebrooks, "and if it is enforced what to become of the men who run the stands. They will in all probability be thrown on the city."

"I fully agree with Mr. Middlebrooks," said Dr. Roy. "The people who run these stands are industrious. Their living is involved in their work, and if their licenses are revoked they will probably become paupers on the city."

"I have given this question a careful consideration," said Mr. Hutchison, the chairman of the committee, "and I am fully satisfied that these licenses should be issued. The men to whom they are granted are generally irresponsible persons, and it is not right to bring them in direct competition with such gentlemen as have sent in this petition. They, too, if a horse should run away and injure one of these men who are planted out in the street by the city, granting the license, would make itself liable to a suit for damages."

"I think these stands should be broken up," said Mr. Collier. "For the most part they are run by Italians who rent a dollar a month for their inferior hand candy, which is sold to the detriment of a manufacturer of good goods. Why, when one of them gets enough money to buy two apples and a pint of cookies he sets up a candy stand on the corner."

"I shall insist upon my amendment," said Mr. Mitchell.

"I wish," said Mr. Grumling, "that you would amend it so as to prohibit the sale of watermelons to negroes on the Fourth of July."

"I rise to a point of order, your honor," said Mr. Beatie. "I don't want that amendment tied to that ordinance. It is no part of the ordinance."

"What is your point of order?" asked the mayor, interrupting Mr. Beatie.

"Why—why," began the member from the third, "why—"

"That the amendment is not germane to the question involved," said the mayor, helping the member out.

"Yes, yes, put it that way," said Mr. Beatie, laughing.

"Well, I hardly think, myself," said the mayor, "that the amendment is proper, and—"

"Well, I withdraw the amendment," said Mr. Mitchell.

MR. COLLIER'S ORDINANCE.
 The street committee, Mr. Mitchell, chairman, reported adversely upon Mr. Collier's don't-let-em-switch-at-all ordinance, in view of the fact that the remedy the city now being done by the railroad.

"I am fully satisfied," said Mr. Collier when the report had been read, "that the agitation of this question has accomplished a great deal of good and that the evil will be remedied. I am willing to wait until the test is made."

The Gate City gas light company sent in a communication, asking that the company be allowed to supply gas at certain points in town where gas is not supplied, and the company offered to take the contract at $20 per foot.

Mr. Beatie thought the offer should be accepted.

Mr. Garrett thought so, too.

Mr. Collier said that the city would save money by it.

The paper was referred to the gas committee.

WANTING A NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.
 A petition numerously signed by citizens of the first and fifth wards asking that the dog pound be removed from the old magazine lot and that a schoolhouse be erected, was presented and referred to the public school committee.

Mr. Sidney Root, president of the park commission, sent in two communications. One asked for a policeman at the park, the other asked that Bryce street, a short street running into the park, be changed to Crawford street.

The balance sheet showed the appropriation expended to be $301,760.50.

WHITEHALL STREET IMPROVEMENT.
 Mr. Mitchell, chairman of the street committee, reported that his committee had agreed to pave Whitehall street from Peters to Fair street, with Belgian blocks. Mr. Mitchell presented an agreement signed by Mr. H. K. Kuntz, in which that gentleman said that he would agree to the work without assessors deciding his damages, if the city would grade his asphalt pavement on the new grade, erect his fence to conform to the new grade, and raise his house as high as the new grade.

The proposition was accepted by the council.

The same committee reported favorably upon the ordinance improving Whitehall street from McDaniel street.

The rules were suspended for Mr. M. C. Masters who presented his well worn map and again objected to the work.

Mr. Beatie thought that Whitehall ought to be improved, as it was one of the oldest thoroughfares in the city. He said that the appropriation for permanent work on the street had nearly two-thirds been absorbed. He believed that a new street ought to be improved.

Dr. Roy thought that the money ought to be put on Crew street.

Mr. Rice said that Whitehall was not one of the oldest streets in the city. "Why," he said, "I travel all over the city and I have never seen it. When I was a member of the inferior court I granted the opening of Whitehall street and it was worked with the county road hands."

The further consideration was postponed until next meeting of the council.

TWO MANY FREE LICENSES.
 When Mr. Middlebrooks was submitting his reports as chairman of the relief committee, Mr. Beatie interrupted him by saying:

"I think free licenses are getting to be too numerous."

"Well," said Mr. Middlebrooks, "I can't help that. If the gentleman would attend his committee meetings he might help make the reports. Jumbo Hunter has been out lately scaring them up, and that has made a free license to one man you must do the same thing for another, who is similarly situated. I look into each application. I know of no way out of it, except to adopt an ordinance declaring to grant any free licenses. Then this would make the city responsible for many who are now making a living."

"I think many of them ought to go to the poor house," said Mr. Grumling.

BOTH AFTER THE SAME THING.
 "I have a resolution to introduce," said Mr. Collier as he read:

Resolved, That the macadam taken from Whitehall street between Peters and Fair streets, be placed on Cooper street between Whitehall and Jackson streets.

"Now I move the adoption of that resolution," said the gentleman when he had read it.

"There are a great many other places that need the macadam off of Whitehall," said Mr. Middlebrooks.

"What? What about the macadam off Whitehall?" asked Mr. Mitchell, excitedly looking from his desk.

Mayor Hillier explained Mr. Collier's resolution.

"Oh, I hope that won't pass," said Mr. Mitchell. "For I am now writing a resolution on that subject myself. Listen."

Then Mr. Mitchell read:

Resolved, That the macadam and gutters when removed from Whitehall street, be placed along Fairview from Whitehall to Jackson and along Whitehall from Jackson to Fairview.

Mr. Collier presented a strong argument in favor of his resolution.

"I move," said Mr. Garrett, "that both resolutions be referred to the commissioners of public works so that he can put it where it is needed worst."

The motion prevailed.

"Well, I desire," said Mr. Collier, after the vote, "to withdraw my resolution, as I do not wish to antagonize the chairman of the street committee."

A NEW CITY HALL.
 Mr. Cooper thinks Atlanta ought to have a city hall, and with that object in view, he introduced a resolution instructing the finance committee to take into consideration and report upon the advisability and expediency of making a yearly appropriation of $40,000 from the income of the city for the purpose of creating a fund of $50,000 to be used in the purchase of grounds and the erection of a suitable, durable and ornamental building, to be known as the city hall, to be occupied by the officers of the city government.

The board of health sent in a lengthy paper recommending that the sanitary limits on both sides of the railroad be extended.

The same board returned to the council the resolution of Mr. Rice directing the board of health to have the shade trees trimmed, saying that the question belonged to the street committee.

THE ARTISAN WELL.
 A paper from Mr. J. W. Culpepper, secretary of the water commission, notified the general council that the commission had taken charge of the artisan well; that plans and specifications for the excavation and distribution of water have been submitted by the superintendent and approved by the board, and that the commission had appropriated $10,000 for the completion of the same.

Mr. Kirkpatrick then introduced a resolution appropriating $7,000 to the work.

Necessity is the Mother of Invention.

One of the most needed articles of domestic use in the present age is the sewing machine, but the present mode of driving the machine has been attended with such injurious results to the health of the operator, and has proved to be defective as regards controlling the machine, so that it has become a necessity to devise some other mode of operating the machine. Some have tried spring mechanisms, others have tried the treadle, and some have tried the foot, but all have failed to fill the want. Of course the reason is very plain. To successfully operate the machine it must be controlled by the will, and that without the use of hand, and just here the treadle comes to the front. This treadle is a combination that admits of no dead center. The operator controls it at will, can stop it and start it, drive it faster or slower than any other treadle in the world, and the best of all is that no force is required. The simple weight of the feet, with a slight natural motion, will control it, and that is what is required. It can be attached to all machines and its cost is within the reach of every one. Call on Mr. Amorous and see it. Leave your order and try it. If it is what I claim you buy it. If not I will have your old treadle replaced. Remember the name, M. F. Amorous.

Crab Orchard Water.
The famous springs that bear the name of "Crab Orchard" located in the mountains of eastern Kentucky, have been noted for over a century for the wonderful healing power of the water, and, even long before the settlement of the country by the whites, these springs were noted among the Indians as the abode of the Great Spirit.

This water can now be obtained at your drugstore, which saves a long journey that has always been necessary.

Unlike most other bottled waters, they carry the full healing properties of the water, and as a remedy for dyspepsia, sick headache and constipation it is as near a specific as quinine for chills and fever.

THE BLIND TIGER.

TWO YOUNG MEN WHO GOT BADLY LEFT.

They Deal Out the Orphan Maker in a Mysterious Way at Cartersville—They Get the Benefit of the Law From Judge McWay—Other News of General Interest, Etc.

Judge McWay had a genuine blind tiger case before him yesterday.

The judge drove a nail into the prohibition platform which will likely result in good in carrying out the temperance laws in dry counties.

The manipulators of the blind tiger hail from Cartersville, the home of the dynamiter, Tobias Jackson.

On Christmas eve last Deputy Marshal William Harrison arrested the proprietors of the tiger, John Spencer and Mark Morrison, young men well known in Cartersville. They were brought to Atlanta, and after a preliminary examination were found guilty of retailing without license. The young men gave bond and were released.

When their cases were called yesterday, a number of CITIZENS OF CARTERSVILLE were seated in the court room.

A number of witnesses were introduced, and some of the evidence was of an interesting nature.

Miles Dobbins, Jr., who sat in the court room with a come brother and he-saved look, was called on to testify. He said that he had been in the room where the liquor was. He had got whisky there, but had paid no one for it. Sometimes he would leave the money on a table, and sometimes he would pick up a flask of liquor and walk out without leaving the money.

"Never did pay for it," asked Judge McWay.

"No, sir."

"Ever intend to?"

"I—I—I guess so."

"And who would you have paid, Mr. Dobbins?"

"I—I—I don't know, sir."

"You don't?"

"No, sir, I guess not."

"Now, sir, would you have paid the two prisoners here, Messrs Spencer and Morrison?"

"Y—y—yes—sir, I suppose I would."

"You can come down."

And the pill was swallowed, but it looked

LIKE A BITTER ONE.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, a prominent witness, seemed to have the hang of the tiger, and told the judge and jury all about it. He said there was nothing in the room except a dry goods box and a little plunder. There was generally a large bottle of liquor on the box, and close by the bottle was a glass and tin can. If a customer wanted a drink, he would take it and lay down fifteen cents, if he wanted a half pint all he had to do was to pick up a flask, fill it up and lay a quarter down. There was no proprietor immediately present.

THE NAMED DIFFERENT WITNESSES

he has seen Spencer and Morrison selling the ardent.

A young man named Franklin pointed it out to the government witnesses in a lively manner. He said that Kirkpatrick had told him that he would join in and help him break up the blind tigers in Cartersville, that Mr. Eite, the present collector, had promised him to have him made deputy marshal in place of Garrison, and that he, the witness could run the blind tiger, and make lots of money and that he would not interfere with him.

and divide the spoils. Franklin went on to explain how the thing could be run without being detected, and how they could make millions out of the blind tiger business. The witness was closely questioned, but didn't deviate from his first statement.

The two men were found guilty, and sentenced to five months imprisonment and one hundred dollars fine each. The former will be sent to Campbell county jail, and the latter to DeKalb county jail.

Judge McWay said when a law was made it should be adhered to, and that when men break the law they should be punished.

THE NAMED DIFFERENT WITNESSES

he would give them severe sentences.

A large number of prohibitionists were at the trial and felt that they had gained a victory.

DEKALB SUPERIOR COURT.

Opening of the Spring Term—A Case of Body Snatching.

The spring term of DeKalb superior court began yesterday.

Among the most important cases to be disposed of is the one against the colored janitor of the Atlanta Medical college, charged with body snatching.

A few weeks ago he was arrested at a grave in Decatur, from which the remains of a negro had been taken. He was arrested, but gave bond.

This is not the first case of the kind in which this negro has been first fiddle, but somehow he has managed to come clear in every case brought against him.

The docket is a full one, and Judge Clarke will have a good term. The legal brethren of the city went down to Decatur yesterday.

The Wages of Sin.

Tonight the drama will be presented on our stage and those who will see it will be able to judge of the correctness of the attacks made against it by some persons who have never seen it. To these persons we will not only be opposed by the press, and the enthusiasm of the crowds who witness the performance. Also the testimony of clergymen who have seen the play and pronounced it as most beautiful and interesting.

The New York Sunday News of May 15th, said of it:

"The new melodrama, 'The Wages of Sin,' has caught the town, and the Southern theater is filled nightly by brilliant and enthusiastic audiences. It is beyond question the most powerful of the kind presented in this city in years. The most sad, strong scenes are deftly relieved by clever comedy, and the startling effects of the thrilling situations are in marked contrast to the sparkling effervescence of those in which the pleasures of life and character are represented. The feelings of the audience are so wrought upon by the scenes that the words of applause are frequent and long continued."

The Herald of same date says:

"The 'Wages of Sin' has made a pronounced hit at the Fourteenth street theater. It is a strong melodrama, with a powerfully told story, a fine cast of characters, and a most beautiful and interesting performance runs smoothly and within a reasonable time."

Michael Strogoff, the Great Russian Play

The wealth of talent which has been engaged to illustrate the romantic career of Michael Strogoff needs but a glance to convince the most skeptical that a vast amount of pains has been taken to present the pictorial drama with all the romantic interest it can elicit. The painter's art, as well as the costume's ingenuity, have been brought into prominence in the scenic illustrations that assume a marked distinction seldom seen in stage production. Mr. Andrews advertises to have taken special interest in showing the scene at Moscow, as well as in the scenes over which the emperors and passes revolting scenes of horror. These pictures, features, especially remarkable, but are said to be rivaled by the scenes showing the battlefields of Kolyn and Ili in flames.

Music At the First Methodist.

The music at the First Methodist church was especially attractive on yesterday. The addition of Mrs. L. S. Shipp, of Raleigh, formerly a resident of this city to the choir, gave much pleasure to her friends and "their name is legion." Mrs. Shipp is a great favorite not only with the Methodist church, but with the musical people all over the city, and the opportunity of seeing her here was a rare one. The choir sang for an hour and a half, and the entire rendering of the piece was perfect. At night the offering was "Oh, that I had wings of a dove," and was quite as beautiful and as much appreciated as the song of the morning, and there were not a few in that large congregation but felt "when the song was ended and the choir had sweet tone, that their hearts had been made stronger and could echo the poet's words

"God bless the singer!

And oh I thank God for the song."

A VESTRY MEETING.

What Was Done—Arrangements to Fill the Pulpit.

The vestry of St. Philip's church held a short session yesterday afternoon at the office of L. J. Hill. There were present L. J. Hill, J. B. Johnson, J. W. Johnson, W. D. Johnson, P. H. Snook, John H. Fitten, and E. C. Peters.

The resignation of Edward S. Gay, treasurer of St. Philip's, was read and accepted. A and the newly elected vestrymen signified their intention of accepting the trust to which they had been called.

A committee, consisting of L. J. Hill, Edward S. Gay, and John A. Fitten, was appointed to look into the finances of the church and prepare a report to be presented at the next meeting.

Vestryman Jack W. Johnson was appointed a committee of one to call upon Dr. J. G. Armstrong, and tender to him for the use of himself and family a pew in the church that he may see fit to select.

The meeting was harmonious and enthusiastic.

J. H. Ketner and E. S. Gay who are among the vestrymen of the church that resigned, have signified their intention to retain their pews in the church. Arrangements have been made to fill the pulpit of St. Philip's on Sunday next, and a permanent pastor will be selected as early as possible. An impression is rapidly gaining ground that the congregation of St. Philip's will again come together, and agree to drop all differences and combine in bringing the parish to its former position among the churches of the city.

A Few Remarks.

For so long a time readers of the daily press of this city have noted with regret the unhappy state of affairs touching St. Philip's church and its pastor. Much that has been published, as in all family discussions, might have been, with a due sense of the proprieties, omitted; but as it enabled the public at large to form an opinion, perhaps no harm ensued.

But the case is made up, a decision reached and no need can result from a further discussion of the question at issue. None is intended here.

Whatever the merits of Dr. Armstrong, he is the pastor of St. Philip's church, and it is that fact which more than any other one concerns the good people of the parish. For the future, let us arise, Christian duties, duties we owe to our children, the church and to ourselves. It will be agreed that we should not, if indeed such has been the case, longer permit prejudice or passion to have any part in our deliberations, whereby discord is engendered, disintegration promoted and the church allowed to languish. Even the most ardent of the late pastor's friends, the believing him to have been unjustly dealt with, will not consent to such. To those who feel aggrieved at his displacement it must be some consolation to know that Dr. Armstrong was surrounded by the most devoted of friends, and had the zealous endorsement of all the city daily press—their organs, teaching with commendations of him—and only words of censure for the court of investigation, its findings are the final award of the pressing organs of the diocese. Added to all this, was the great probability of expression evoked by the industrial intervention of the city of Atlanta, and the voice of dissent publicly expressed, and we have known at St. Philip's, where the right of enjoyment of multifarious endowment from tongue and pen. And hence it is urged that the church should not, if indeed such has been the case, longer permit prejudice or passion to have any part in our deliberations, whereby discord is engendered, disintegration promoted and the church allowed to languish.
